

Environmental Law Society

The goals of the E-Law Society are to inform UT law students on environmental law issues and to provide networking opportunities for members who are interested in an environmental law career. Even if you are not interested specifically in environmental law, our club is an excellent way to meet fellow law students and engage in activities outside of the normal law school activities of reading and studying. ALL are encouraged to join. We plan fall and spring fundraisers, invite speakers to discuss e-law issues, and host the Chili-Goof Off in the spring. Join E-law today and meet a great group of fun and laid back students looking to help you get what you want out of law school.
